A BILL

BILL HISTORY

Students at the University of Colorado are given the opportunity each spring to recognize the instructors they value highly by nominating them for the Teaching Recognition Award. This award is sponsored by the Student organization for Alumni Relations with grants from corporate sponsors. Since the initial nomination comes from the effort of individual students, publicity is a necessity to ensure widespread student participation. It is important that the student voice is heard positively in the academic arena at CU and UCSU should support this voice.
