BILL HISTORY

Margaret Jenkins is a nationally acclaimed master teacher, choreographer, and performer who resides in the San Francisco area. Her Dance Company has received high praise for both the talent of its performers and the inventiveness of its choreography. The Margaret Jenkins Dance Company will present three performances at the Charlotte York Irey Theatre on the C.U. campus on March 12-14, 1987. Admission will be $4 for CU students, $7 for non-students. Jenkins will also teach 5 master classes to the University Dancers, who are made up of CU dance majors and students enrolled in the classes.

The Company is on tour, which makes CU a very convenient place for them to stop. They also are very interested in coming to Colorado to perform. Basically, the budget allows for food, lodging, travel and some advertising costs for the 11 member company and staff. The Dance Department is giving free use of all theatre facilities and studios. The University Dancers are a group consisting mostly of dance majors. Their function is to bring in guest teachers and companies that are extra to their curriculum.
