A BILL

BILL HISTORY

February 1, 1989 marks the beginning of Black History Month, but unlike those of previous years, the affects of this event will be magnified by a unifying teleconference satellite link between participants at major colleges, universities, military installations, secondary schools, national associations and federal and state agencies nationwide. This years' Black History Month will be titled Beyond the Dream: A Celebration of Black History, and will initiate discussions on education, politics, business and economics, social issues, the military and arts entertainment and sports through six major program segments.

This telecommunications event promises to be interacton through a special toll-free number, so participants can ask questions and make comments "on the air". Also, it will attract tremendous levels of local and national interest through the appearances of Mary Futrell, President of the NEA; Air Force General Bernard Randolph; Judith Eaton, President of Philadelphia Community College; and Take 6, a contemporary jazz gospel sextet.

The total cost of the exent will be $2,175, and $700.00 in funding has been secured from the Black/Ethnic Advocacy Funds, and the Multicultural Center for Counseling and Community Development. More funding is being sought from CSERA (the Center for Students of Race and Ethnicity in America), the Year Long Symposium Celebrating All People and Associate Vice Chancellor Henson's office. An amount of $678.60 + GAR is sought to fund the advertising for this teleconference. For further bugetary information, see the attached budget.
