A BILL

BILL HISTORY

The American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics (AIAA), the aerospace engineering society, is well established at the University of Colorado. AIAA serves as a link between those interested in aerospace engineering and professional engineers. The AIAA chapter here at CU is a student chapter of the nationwide AIAA professional organization.

Regional and national conferences for AIAA are held every year. Last Spring, the Region 5 conference was hosted here in Denver by the CU chapter. This year's conference will be held in Minneapolis, Minnesota from April 19-21.

The objective of this conference is to: involve students in a technical paper competition, provide interaction among students and professionals, and facilitate communication and involvement between universities. CU will take part in the student paper competition AIAA believes that a strong delegation will further CU's positive leadership and continue the tradition of past success...

To The Council of Colleges and Schools:

On behalf of the University of Colorado student AIAA chapter, I would like to thank the Council of Colleges and Schools for the funds which were contributed toward the AIAA Region Five Student Paper Conference.

This years meeting was held in Minneapolis, Minnesota. Thirty-four delegates and our faculty advisor were able to attend. We continued our history of success at this annual technical paper conference. Seven of approximately sixty papers were presented by CU students. Of those seven, three were honored. In the graduate division, Richard Johnson was rewarded with first place and Scott Peppin placed third. An honorable mention was awarded to Ralph Burns in the undergraduate division.

We enjoy the opportunity to participate in these technical paper conferences and are appreciative of your support.

Sincerely,
