A BILL

BILL HISTORY

The "Drug War": new strategies of racism and imperialism, will provide a space for the discussion of issues affecting the spectrum of communities within the U.S. and hopefully create an opportunity to unite activists in opposition to racism, sexism and imperialism.

Michael Parenti has recently committed himself to address the conference on the issue of, "Imperialism, Drugs and Social Control." He gained his PhD from Yale in Political Science and is an author, lecturer, and regular contributor of articles. His major works include: Democracy For All Inventing Reality, and The Sword and the Dollar.

We are fortunate to be able to include Michael Parenti at this event for a comparatively small expenditure. (His normal honorarium is $1,200.00.) He is an important critic of the media industry and will make a valuable contribution to the aims and content of this conference.

BILL SUMMARY

This bill will allocate an amount not to exceed $285.30 + GAR from Representative Council to fund Michael Parenti's speaking engagement at the National Activist Conference, November 3, 1990.
