A BILL

BILL HISTORY

For thirty-three years the American Israeli Public Affairs Committee, one of the strongest voices on Capitol Hill, has sponsored annual conferences dealing with a variety of pro-Israel issues. This years conference deals with a variety of issues including the loan guarantees, the current Middle-East peace conference, and ties between Christians and Jews. The conference offers opportunities for students to network with other campuses, receive training on grassroots organizing, and become versed in current issues. Students at the conference will be able to meet and talk with various public officials from both Israel and the United States,. Last year, the four delegates that attended the conference came back with a tremendous amount of new information that aided the campus group, American Movement for Israel development. American Movement for Israel is currently one of the most vocal student groups on campus.
