Bill history

The University of Colorado Student Union (U.C.S.U.) is an organization of elected and hired officials entrusted with the responsibility of representing the entire student body of the University of Colorado at Boulder in fiscal decisions pertaining to student fees, as well as advocating for student issues within the institutional structure. U.C.S.U. thus recognizes the duty of its members to develop and expand their capacity to serve diverse populations, to act as an ally and resource for student groups and organizations, and to maintain open lines of communication with the student body. While it is anticipated that U.C.S.U. members will actively work to become more effective student representatives and leaders, U.C.S.U. recognizes the importance of establishing a formalized process to enhance and promote members' understanding and functioning within a multicultural society as a sign of U.C.S.U.'s commitment to serving a broad range of students.
